

Freedom is not free.

This well-known recitation often and normally conjures images of military sacrifice.

Yet, Journalism, which is known as the fourth estate, and guarantees our freedoms, has become compromised by big money and sensationalism for profit. The media machine often “Wags the Dog” for the establishment while ignoring objectivity and integrity.

Jesters and Buffoons from all ilks, special interests, and chaos mongers have corrupted Journalism since the dawn of the digital era. And we must fight back with thoughtful, unbiased, fact-based journalism.

We must fight and sacrifice because under the guise of their stewardship, these corrupt interests are restricting and censoring the dialogue required to be free. Independent journalists, platforms, publishers, and whistleblowers face persecution and prosecution despite the fact that truth is a defense to claims of slander or defamation.

At The Daily Declaration, we pledge to fight for the truth above all.

Regardless of which party, which media conglomerate, which politician, or which corporate-lackey lies to you, we will bring you the truth. No spin, no opinion. We will investigate the parties and practices which have restricted your rights and freedoms.

Let your declaration be known. You want freedom and you know it is not free.

Freedom of information, freedom of thought, freedom to exchange ideas.
